Greetings!

On behalf of the American Bar Association Section of International Law, I invite you to partner with us, and our approximately 18,000 members, as a Cooperating Entity at our 2018 Annual Conference in New York City to be held April 17-21, 2018 at the Grand Hyatt New York. The 2018 Annual Conference will include more than 60 continuing legal education programs and a number of networking opportunities, including receptions at the iconic Rainbow Room and Bryant Park.

Approximately 1,000 international practitioners from more than 50 countries are expected to attend the 2018 Annual Conference. Attendees will include leaders and experts, policy makers, judges, academics, lawyers from non-governmental organizations, in-house counsel and law students.

Participating as a Cooperating Entity is a non-financial arrangement and simply entails publicizing the Conference to your members through your newsletters, website, mailing lists or social media. As a Cooperating Entity, your organization will benefit from the same discounted registration rates offered to members of the Section. I hope to help strengthen relations between your organization and the Section through your support as a Cooperating Entity.

In addition, Cooperating Entities will receive the following benefits:

- Listing on the 2018 Annual Conference Website, Brochure, and Meeting App, with a hyperlink to your homepage; and
- An opportunity to display promotional literature during the 2018 Annual Conference in the registration and exhibition area at the Grand Hyatt New York

If you have questions, please contact Jeanita Brown at Jeanita.brown@americanbar.org. We look forward to your support!

With best regards,

Steven M. Richman
Chair
